ASSESSMENT
REDUCTIONS
ARE ALLOWED

By the Board of County Commissioners in Washington, Madison and Clay Districts.

MANY OTHERS ARE REJECTED

Some Because the Straightout Reduction of Twelve and one-half Per Cent was Made.

Yesterday afternoon, the Ohio county board of commissioners completed its consideration of the applications received from Washington, Madison and Clay districts for reductions in assessments on realty as made by the decennial reappraisal. A number of reductions were allowed and others rejected, but in the case of many of the rejected applications the board acted as it did because the straightout reduction of 12 1/2 per cent throughout the city was nearly if not quite what the petitioners asked. There remain a number of petitions from the three districts named that have not been acted upon at the request of the petitioners, who are out of the city for the summer. Consideration of petitions from the seven other districts of the county is postponed until August or September, owing to the fact that some of the commissioners are about to leave the city for several weeks, and then there is the approaching railroad special election, which will engage the attention of the commissioners and citizens in general for the ensuing three weeks. The delay in taking up the petitions from the other districts will not cause petitioners any loss, as taxes are not due until October 1.

The following applications for reductions were acted upon favorably:

charged for a lot.

BRIEF MENTIONINGS.

Events in and About the City Given in a Nutshell.

The Imperial, on Market street, is without doubt the coolest shaving parlor in the city, being equipped with electric fans and lights throughout.

To-day is the last day for the discount on the city water rents and there will likely be a rush at the water bills' office of the eleventh hour arrivals.

Rev. John McCue will hold open air service on the corner of Twelfth and Market streets, Sunday, at 10 a. m.; also at 6 p. m., at the corner of Elghteenth and Market streets.

Miss Lena Arbene, of the Wheeling Conservatory of Music, has just published a song, "Evening Prayer," which is dedicated to Mrs. Hoh, wife of the pastor of Zion's German Lutheran church, of this city.

As stated in the Intelligencer yesterday, the tin mills in this section will close down to-day at noon, by reason of the anticipated Association scale for the year being still in statu quo. In the meantime repairs will be made at the mills.

On account of the influx of bugs of the "electric light" order and moths and "millers," there were only two lights on top at the city building last night, in Chief Clemens' office and the main corridor of the building. The big electric globe that hangs at the entrance has become almost choked with the remains of big bugs which ventured too far.

One year ago yesterday the memorial service on the Wheeling Railway Company's lines was settled after a thirteen-weeks' struggle, a compromise being effected by the granting to the man of an increase of "two cents per hour. To-morrow a voluntary increase by the company of an additional cent goes into effect. Surely these are Republican times.

The citizens of Union district, in the first assessment district of Marshall county, intend to use every effort to have the state board of equalization and appeals remove the increase of 20 per cent recently imposed on this district. Meetings are to be held throughout the county, and at a Benwood meeting the following committee was appointed to wait on the state board at its next meeting: Mayor Thomas Shepard, Josiah Sinclair, John W. Leach, Thomas Deegan and John Blake.

About all the single manufacturers in the city have agreed to pay the advance demanded by their employees and it is now a settled fact that it will be paid without exception. Yesterday found the firms not previously mentioned finding into the band wagon and the con-troverly will be a thing of the past Monday morning, when the new wages, 25 1/2 per 1,000 articles, goes into effect.
The increase will not make the any difference in the selling price, and "three-fers" and "four-fers" may be obtained at the old stand for the old consideration.

It's Up to the Jury.

Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer.
STUBENVILLE, O., June 29.—Arguments in the Horner murder case began this afternoon and the case goes to the jury to-morrow. The defense proved by a number of witnesses that Mrs.
Horner said she was indicted for keeping a house of ill fame and rather than disgrace her children she would kill herself, the theory of suicide being their purpose to establish.
